United Way doesn't give money to directly to individuals and families.

We fund programs that have staff that are experts in getting the right kind of help to qualified individuals and families at the right time.

We give a HAND UP—not a handout.

United Way volunteers spend hours reviewing requests for funds, talking with others in the community about needs, and gaps in services to make the best possible decisions on how to best “spend” your gifts to make the biggest difference in people’s lives.

United Way of Clinton County, Iowa works hard to keep expenses down so that as many dollars as possible can go directly serving those in need.
